Oracle database 10g. Please help me on this issue. A: Are you using jython in your jython script? If yes, it's your script that's wrong, not the driver: `import jc.db.Database; import jc.db.driver.DatabaseConnection; try { DatabaseConnection conn = new DatabaseConnection(); conn.db.execute("SOME SQL STATEMENT"); } catch(Exception e) { e.printStackTrace(); }` Is the JDBC driver you're using (`jc.db.driver.DatabaseConnection`) an unpackaged driver? If so, you need to pass your driver jar file to the JDBC driver (you can see how in a script, or with the following command line: `java -cp jc.db.driver.jar:classpath com.mycompany.MyDriverClass` By the way, the main reason to use `oracle.jdbc.driver.OracleDriver` and `oracle.jdbc.driver.OracleConnection` is to avoid Java-specific classes that are not portable across platforms. Q: How to remove all SQL syntax highlighting (and highlighting of keywords) from JTextFields in Netbeans? I'm having problems with highlighting keywords in a JTextField, the keywords appear as highlighted in Netbeans IDE. I want to remove this highlighting, is there a way to do it? I've seen this question but it doesn't seem to solve my problem. A good starting point is to check the key bindings for the editor. The description will give you the keywords you are using. You can then check if those keys are bound to anything in the editor. This can be done through the Options->Keyboard menu. DESCRIPTION (Applicant's abstract): Influenza is a major cause of morbidity and mortality in all age groups, in the USA every year, there are approximately 50,000 deaths, 90,000 hospitalizations, and one million outpatient visits. Primary care physicians (PCPs) can affect the ability of patients to contract, transmit and/or recover from influenza infections. There is a large body of evidence supporting the efficacy of vaccination with influenza in preventing both laboratory-confirmed and clinically-ill influenza infections.
